BOOM COL. ANDREWS

Pennsylvanians Hail Him as Their Next Governor.

STATE CLUB HOLDS MEETING

More Than Three Hundred Keystone
State Residents Gather in Clubrooms and Spend Enjoyable Evening—Judge Foote Is Master of Ceremonies—Many Speakers.

More than 300 Pennsylvanians joined Representative Benjamin K. Foote, of the "Shoestring" district of the Keystone State, in booming Col. Wesley R. Andrews, president of the local Pennsylvania Club, for governor of their native Commonwealth at the informal smoker held at the Pennsylvania Club, Fifteenth and K streets, last evening.

The ostensible reason for the gathering last evening was to unite all the Pennsylvanians who reside in Washington in a social organization.

Col. Andrews opened the evening's festivities with a brief talk, explaining the purposes of the club and giving a historical description of the body since its organization, four years ago.

Judge H. M. Foote was introduced as master of ceremonies for the evening and responded with a witty speech. He incidentally lauded Col. Andrews as the prime factor in stimulating and sustaining the high standard of the club, "where all are treated alike."

Praise for Col. Andrews.

Representative Foote was then introduced and in a stirring address described the presiding officer, Col. Andrews, as a man who knew and understood Pennsylvania's people and politics better than any son of the Keystone State. "He has on more than one occasion saved the Republican party from defeat," said the Congressman, "and if ever nominated for the governorship, will receive the vote of every true member of the grand old Republican party, from the Delaware to the Lakes and the Monongahela." Loud applause greeted the Representative's statements.

Continuing, he said: "I feel certain every Pennsylvanian here tonight heartily agrees with me, and would back his president to the last stand, should he be nominated. I hope to see the colonel occupy the chair of the chief executive of Pennsylvania before many years pass."

Describes Growth of Club.

Following this address, Hon. J. T. Dubois, of the State Department, made an eloquent address, telling of the establishment of the local club, whose organization, he said, was by no means premature. "There are in Washington," said Mr. Dubois, "2,500 Pennsylvanians. Surely this organization should not be considered as premature. Since it was founded, over four years ago, and since that time, the club has made rapid progress both in having a large membership and in possessing a home that gives it a unique distinction among the other State organizations in the Capital City."

In concluding his speech, Mr. Dubois said: "We Pennsylvanians, because of the patriotism displayed by our forefathers, should have a special pride in being true Americans, for it was the vote of John Martin, of Delaware County, Pennsylvania, that decisively made the Declaration of Independence the factor that banished kingly dominion from our land."

At the close of the speech-making, those present partook of refreshments.

The officers of the club are as follows: Col. Wesley R. Andrews, president; Hon. J. Hampton Moore, first vice president; Hon. Daniel F. Lafean, second vice president; Hon. George F. Huff, third vice president; John R. Williams, treasurer; William B. Stewart, secretary, and William B. Craig, financial secretary.

BRYAN IN PLATTSBURG.

Lectures Before Audience of 1,500 in
Y. M. C. A. Building.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Feb. 8.—William J. Bryan to-night returned in this city under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., before an audience of 1,500.

Mr. Bryan said that he had already expressed himself on public matters, and that he had nothing further to say other than to reaffirm previous statements. He said that, in his opinion, Taft would be selected as the Republican nominee for President on the first ballot, and that this would be due in a great measure to his backing by Roosevelt and the thousands of officeholders dominated by the President.

Asked as to the Democratic nominee, he smiled and said that was a matter for the Denver convention to determine.

SEES TAFT OPPOSITION.

Representative Lenahan Discusses Political Situation.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 8.—Representative John A. Lenahan, the Democratic leader of this district, who is home for a few days, said to-day of the Presidential situation:

"The Republicans do not seem to be able to concentrate on any candidate. Taft seems to be stronger and to have more followers and shouters than any other candidate, but the opposition to the Secretary of War is both bitter and determined, and his opponents firmly believe that they will succeed in turning the tide in favor of some other candidate before the national convention is held."

In Representative Lenahan's opinion, the Democratic Representatives mostly favor Bryan.

SANGER AN ASPIRANT.

Will Announce Candidacy for New York Governorship.

Utica, Feb. 8.—Believing all that is necessary to land him the Republican nomination for the governorship is to mention his availability and fitness, the friends of Col. Cary Sanger in Onondaga County will launch a boom for him some time next week.

He is a Republican of long standing, was Assistant Secretary of War under Elihu Root, represented the Federal government abroad on a military mission, and is at present chairman of the Wainwright committee investigating the New York State National Guard. He also saw service in the Spanish-American war.

FOR LA FOLLETTE IN 1912.

Campaign Purpose of Keeping Him in Line for Nomination.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 8.—At a meeting in the interest of the Presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, W. W. Powell, of Milwaukee, chief of the La Follette publicity bureau, said that the campaign started three weeks ago was more for the purpose of keeping Senator La Follette in line for the nomination in 1912 than in the expectation of procuring his nomination this year.

Taft Is Indorsed.

West Plains, Mo., Feb. 8.—The Republican convention of the Fourteenth Congressional district to-day unanimously adopted resolutions for Taft for President and by a vote of 129 to 10 instructed its delegates to the national convention to vote for and use all possible means to secure his nomination.

ROOSEVELT DENIAL TO ISSUE

Letter to Foulke Regarding Alleged Use of Federal Patronage to Be Made Public—Hitchcock, as Manager, Expected to Have Influence with Various Postmasters.

President Roosevelt and administration leaders who are joined with him in the effort to bring about the nomination of William H. Taft by the Chicago convention, realize that supporters of other candidates have not been idle, and that the coming battle will be fought hard and to a finish.

Taft advocates within the administration circle are somewhat surprised over the strength shown by Taft's opponents. As much was admitted yesterday.

Word went out from quarters near the White House that there was plenty of evidence that a combination had been effected among the advocates of Cannon, Knox, Fairbanks, and others to prevent Taft from getting the nomination. It was said in these same quarters that Senator W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts is the leader of the anti-Taft forces.

Master Hand Recognized.

Without regard to whether Crane is or is not the chief mover in growing opposition to the effort of Roosevelt to name his own successor, it is recognized that some masterful politician has effected a powerful working coalition of Republican leaders committed to candidates other than Taft.

This was shown in the Florida State convention. It is now an open secret that the work of the allied forces will be apparent in every Republican State convention in which Federal officeholders will take a prominent part, with the object of obtaining an indorsement for the Secretary of War.

Following disclosures of strenuous participation of Federal employees in the Florida convention and the news of Frank H. Hitchcock's temporary transfer from the office of First Assistant Postmaster General to the Taft campaign management, there has been a revival of criticisms of the President for alleged use of Federal officeholders to help the Taft cause.

President Takes Measures.

Close friends of the President do not need to put their ears to the ground to hear the rumblings of discontent. They were quick to make Mr. Roosevelt acquainted with the danger which a continuation of this kind of talk would work to Taft.

Roosevelt, generally recognized as one of the greatest politicians in the country, was not slow to decide his course to pursue to offset the threatened damage. Early next week he will make public the text of a letter written by him to William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana, denying that Federal officeholders had been used to get support for the Secretary of War.

ers connected with the administration. He returned home to challenge Indianapolis newspapers to name a single instance of a Federal officer instructed to work for Taft's nomination.

It is safe to predict that the President's denial will not serve to stop the assertions that many of his appointees were actually engaged in the effort to bring about the selection of Taft as the Republican standard bearer.

The action of the Senate in rejecting nominations of postmasters in Ohio and a pension agent in New Hampshire on the ground that they were nominated at the instance of Taft boomers, against the wishes of the Senators from their States, indicates that the Senate is inclined to put faith in the reports of administration activity in behalf of the President's candidate. This feeling is growing in Congress.

It is believed the President's letter to Foulke will not be sufficient to sidetrack the intention of some Congressmen to introduce resolutions calling for more specific information or for the appointment of a committee to make an investigation of the charges.

Hitchcock Reluctant.
From all accounts, Frank H. Hitchcock was an unwilling convert to the Taft cause, and will surrender reluctantly the office of First Assistant Postmaster General. Hitchcock consented to become one of Mr. Taft's managers, it is said, only from a sense of duty and loyalty to President Roosevelt.

Already predictions are made that the choice of Hitchcock as director of the Taft campaign will result in friction between himself and Arthur I. Vorys, of Columbus, Ohio, the other Taft manager. Vorys gave out a statement Friday night that he had wanted Hitchcock to help along the candidacy of the Secretary of War. "There is a suspicion, however, that Vorys, who had regarded Hitchcock as one of the leaders in the alleged movement to bring about Secretary Connelley's nomination, did not extend the invitation until he had been urged to do so by somebody 'higher up.'"

To Divide Work.

To back up Vorys' statement from Columbus, the following was authorized yesterday:

"It was learned from one near to Secretary Taft that Mr. Vorys, of Ohio, who has up to this time managed the Secretary's campaign, found he could not cover all the ground that was necessary, and he therefore solicited the assistance of Mr. Hitchcock."

"Mr. Vorys will retain the main headquarters at Columbus, and will divide the work with Mr. Hitchcock, who will establish headquarters somewhere in the East."

Mr. Hitchcock will make his headquarters somewhere in Washington or New York, perhaps with offices in both cities. He was wanted especially on account of his wide acquaintance among postmasters. His work would be in the East and the South.

The understanding that Mr. Hitchcock will return to the office of First Assistant Postmaster General when he is through with his political work will insure him a cordial greeting from postmasters with whom he will be brought in contact as a Taft manager.

It was said yesterday that if Taft gets the Republican club to-morrow night at a banquet, he will also be principal guest at Lincoln Day dinner February 12 at Grand Rapids, Mich. On February 14 he will deliver the diplomas to the graduating class of West Point.

ODELL AT THE HELM

Resumes Activity and Sets
Henchmen to Work.

OUT TO CAPTURE DELEGATES

Primary Fights Directed in Thirty-seven Assembly Districts of Which
His Faction Claims Control—Further Conferences Are Planned for
This Week in City and Up-State.

New York, Feb. 8.—Ex-Gov. B. B. Odell, Jr., resumed at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to-day his political activities, though still somewhat shaky on his pins, as he said, after his four months' illness.

He gathered about him half a dozen local Republican leaders—Edward Lauterbach, Abraham Gruber, William Halpin, and others.

As a result of an extended talk, Odell leaders in the New York Republican county committee were impressed by Odell with the importance of beginning work immediately in effort to capture a majority of delegates in New York County to the State convention to be held in April, and which is to select four delegates-at-large and their alternates to the national convention.

This convention will also elect two electors-at-large and an elector for each Congressional district and a new State committee. For a number of years past the New York Republican county committee has been practically the key to State control of the machine.

Primary Fights Ordered.

The Odell people claim control already of ten to twelve of the thirty-seven assembly districts in New York County. They received instructions from Odell to precipitate primary fights in every one of the thirty-seven assembly districts. These primaries are to be held on March 2.

A majority of the assembly districts elect the president of the county committee. It is the aim of the Odell people to defeat Representative Herbert Parsons.

Odell returned to Newburgh to-night. He is to come again to New York City next week, for further consultations with Odell leaders in the county committees.

Later on, it
